

09664674-05301
705550-42949360

a/cout

contiguous polygonal areas wherein each polygonal area displays spots similar to spots appearing on dice, each polygonal area of the cruciform shaped array displaying a different set of spots selected exclusively from a group consisting of one, two, three, four, and five spots, the cruciform shaped array being located above the primary array; (c) a first single column rectangular shaped array having at least six similarly shaped and sized contiguous polygonal areas wherein each polygonal area displays spots similar to spots appearing on dice, each polygonal area of the last said array displaying a different set of spots selected exclusively from a group consisting of one, two, three, four, five and six spots, the last said array being located on one of two sides of the primary array; (d) a double column rectangular shaped array having at least twelve similarly shaped and sized contiguous polygonal areas wherein each polygonal area displays spots similar to spots appearing on dice, each laterally adjacent polygonal area of the last said array displaying a pair of a different sets of spots selected exclusively from a group consisting of one, two, three, four, five and six spots, the last said array being located on the other of the two sides of the primary array; (e) a shaped array having at least five similarly shaped and sized contiguous polygonal areas wherein each polygonal area displays spots similar to spots appearing on a die, each polygonal area of the shaped array displaying a different set of spots selected exclusively from a group consisting of one, two, three, four, and five spots, the shaped array being located below the primary array; (f) a polygonal shaped area enclosing six spots located above and separate from the cruciform array; (g) a second single column rectangular shaped array having at least six similarly shaped and sized contiguous polygonal areas wherein each polygonal area displays spots similar to spots appearing on dice, each polygonal area of the last said array displaying a different set of spots selected exclusively from a group consisting of one, two, three, four, five and six spots, the last said array being located on one of two sides of the cruciform array; and, (h) a third single column rectangular shaped array having at least six similarly shaped and sized contiguous polygonal areas wherein each polygonal area displays spots similar to spots appearing on dice, each polygonal area of the last said array displaying a different set of spots selected exclusively from a group consisting of one, two, three, four, five and six spots, the last